Wealthsmiths is a word that was coined and trademarked by Sanlam, it is a word that tells the story of the Sanlam difference. We have a diligent approach to protecting and creating wealth, like a goldsmith or a blacksmith we at Sanlam pride ourselves in being the artisans of the financial world. We treat your money with the respect it deserves and we pay claims when we say we will.

Now that you have mentioned claims, how does Sanlam handle claim payment?

We pay when we say we will, as long as we get all the necessary documents which in general insurance are normally an official police letter, a completed and returned claims form (which can be picked up from Sanlam offices) and quotations from the garage if it is a motor claim. We are committed to keeping up with global insurance standards and professionalism.
