

FOSTERING THE LEGACY OF PRESIDENT YOWERI MUSEVENI

Chapter 1 Verse 1

One of the greatest mysteries of the international community is why the hard fought freedom and democracy initiated through the sowing of the first mustard seed by President Museveni and the loyal members of the National Resistance Movement has not yet translated to economic prosperity for Ugandans. Why one of the most peaceful nations in the world, the most stable government in Africa, the highest security to life and property for almost 30 years remains the poorest country in East Africa and one of the poorest in the world has remained an illusion until now. The dream of Museveni to create a prosperous Uganda is unfortunately simply held back and delayed by the Ugandan Private Sector!

The responsibility and duty of ANY government in the world is to create an ENABLING environment for private sector to make a difference. From The US to China, Germany to the UK and Canada to Japan, the private sector is the catalyst for prosperity ushering in jobs, income and GDP boost on the foundation of a caring, sensitive and protective government.

Uganda through even the lenses of the worst and most biased critic has enjoyed ALL that is required from ANY government anywhere to do in regards to creating an enabling environment for private sector to make a difference YET the Ugandans have simply SAT BACK waiting for the government to do ALL including private sector part of the overall economic development agenda for the country, leading to economic stagnation, gross poverty, depression, weak/ absent infrastructure, poor housing, massive unemployment(to the point Ugandans are willingly going for slavery in the Middle East of all places). The mentality of "Government ettuyambe" MUST end in Uganda or poverty and mediocrity will remain the norm!

Here comes Development Channel, a private sector led pan-African economic development agenda also anchoring on the same principles of "Sowing the Mustard Seed", it began on Port Bell Road, in an empty room of a dilapidated building and with only 17 ladies as employees and is right now the fastest growing company in all of Uganda. The organization currently sells computer tablets but offers lifetime access to the projected financial returns of its conglomerate of 25 HIGH TECH companies helping the average Ugandan benefit from the returns of investments but without taking any risks because of the computer tablets which acts as full value for the money paid. Ugandans have fallen in total love with the company and good wages have been paid to over 96 staff in 6 consecutive months without fail. Computer tablets have been given to employees for free, program has been done to help single mothers get extra income and many admitted into full time employment, children have been given free computer tablets and thousands of young Ugandans have been made to believe, trust and appreciate that the enabling environment which has made all these possible in such a short period of time came because of the sacrifices of President Museveni(whose picture and the accolade of providing enabling environment for private sector to make a difference hangs very boldly in front of the corporate headquarters of the company).

Development Channel is CURRENTLY set to become the second highest employer of labour in Uganda private sector through the creation of 5,000 jobs in customer service in two buildings they have secured in Bukoto, Kampala nicknamed the "Twin Pillars".

There is also a plan to create a further 20,000 jobs in product assembling, packaging and fulfilment for their mobile phones designated for shipping and use across 50 African countries within the next three months which will make Development Channel the HIGHEST EMPLOYER OF LABOUR IN UGANDA far above any private sector or government agency all which the founder said will just be "Good morning Uganda".

Already revealed initiatives include the food franchise called SIS CHI which would be spread on every street corner across Africa bringing boom to Uganda agriculture and agro business creating over 100,000 new jobs directly and much more indirectly. The conglomerate of 25 companies is also finishing the construction of TV studios on Port Bell Road for international transmission to a wide market of over 100 million viewers across Africa expected through its REDIRECT concept. This does not include the Mobile App for home construction called OBF projected to create close to one million jobs in international project management for Ugandans.

In the words of the founder and Chairman" Uganda is like a man whose dowry was paid for him to get a wife, bed set for him to make love to her, yet he is waiting and blaming the father for his lack of children. We will economically fast track the development of Uganda, financially empower the citizens of this lovely nation and prove to the world that President Museveni is truly the greatest public sector leader in the history of Africa. We were designed by providence to FOSTER the legacy of President Museveni and bring its glory to the hands and mouths of Ugandans and Africans in general. This wonderful, proven legacy of ENABLING ENVIRONMENT must also be embraced by Africa at large and we have all the resources to ensure that it happens. It is the second mustard seed that fosters the first".
